

Covenant Knitters

Covenant Knitters began in 2006. It started with one person giving hand-knit hats and scarves to homeless people in downtown Portland who were sleeping in church doorways. When the task became too great for one person, an appeal was made for volunteers to donate yarn, to help knit and to help distribute the items.

The group has grown to include several loving people who come together to show God's love in a practical way. We utilize the wonderful knitting and crocheting talents He has given us. We make hats, scarves and mittens and prefer to interact face-to-face with a person on the street, rather than donate to an agency. To date, several hundred people have received items.
